TENNESSEE-PERSONAL POLITICS.-The canvass for Congress in the 1st District, between Col. L. C. Haynes and Andrew Johnson, is waxing warmer and warmer, and rather overstepping the ordinary limits of party doings. A correspondent of the Knarville Whig, who heard them at Blountsville, thus reports the substance them at Blountsville, thus reports the substance of their speeches:

"Johnson and Haynes quarreled six hours here, and have adjourned to meet again to-morrow. They said but little about politics, but a great deal about their own want of honor, truth and patriotism.—Haynes charged Johnson with refusing to pay his calls on his railroad stock. Johnson denied, and produced receipts to prove that he had paid but said that Haynes had paid his own calls in wind from the stump, and was paid two prices for that. Haynes said that he had the promise of Johnson that he would get out of the way this time and do his best for him Johnson denies this bargain. says that Haynes asked him fifteen hundred dollars to give him the track two years ago, and help him to beat Taylor, that his friend Patterson got him down to eight hundred; and that him and Haynes met at Greenville about the first of May to arrange certain preliminaries of a Convention. They charged each other with having received lots of money from their party, with many rascally things—all of which we Wings believed! Haynes proved by A. L. Gammon that he was to have the track this time, and Johnson proved by Patterson that there was no such bargain—that Haynes had been bought off with moaey and had no right to run now! Johnson said Haynes was not veteran Democrat enough to go to Congress yet—that a few years ago he was a noisy Whig—was abusing Jackson, Van Buren and all the Democrats—was kicked out of the Whig ranks by Brownlow—joined the Church in six weeks more! Haynes replied that no one would ever kick Johnson out of the Church or ministry—for that he was an infield and did not believe in the existence of a God. Johnson replied that he believed in the true and living God, but that he had no fielth in the God Haynes worshipped during the six weeks of his Ministry."

Arrest of Scoundrels.—Two men passing by the name of Win. May and Lewis Livingston, were arrested this morning by officers Phillips of Troy, and Wigham of New-York, on the charge of committing an outrage on the person of a Miss Wager, a young woman of about 1 years, residing in Pittstown. Others also, we understand, had failen victims to their outrageous plots. The scoundrels arrested have been perambulating the country, representing themselves as Indian doctors, pretending to oure private diseases, particularly those of females. One of them appears to be dumb and the other acts as interpreter.

They are genteelly dressed and are of insinuating manners, and their plans seem to have been well calculated to decreve the innocent and unwary. They were arrested upon a warrant issued by Justice Ransom, of Lansingburgh, before whom they will probably have their examination. They had been visiting Saratoga the past few days, and were arrested on their return, in the cars.

LW Capt. Stephen Smith, a soldier of the Revolution, died in Northford, on the 23d inst., at the airvanced age of 100 years and 6 weeks. At the close of the one hundreth year of his age, many of his friends met with him—on which occasion a sermon was preached, and religious services performed, and the day closed by the party partaking supper with the venerable old gentleman. The incidents recounted by him and his early associates from this city, who were then for the last time met together, will be long remembered by those of another generation who were present. Mr. Smith was many years engaged in commercial business, and sailed from this port in the palmy days of the Shipmans and Shermans. His life was marked for strict integrity, energy and perseverance—and sincerely devoted to his family, his friends, his country, and the cause of Christ—and we doubt not he has gone to cause of Christ—and we doubt not he has gone to his reward. (New-Haven Register.)

The Upper Mississippi.—By the Minnesota, we have papers from St. Paul of the 12th. The Mississippi was falling slowly at that place. It had not been as high by four feet and a half as it was last season, but the upper landing of St. Paul, and the founcation of the lower steam saw-mil were overflowed, so as to prevent sawing.

The steamer Dambe left Galena last Saturday.—The officers of the Nominee, which vessel had just sarrived from St. Peters, reported all the streams above falling fast. At Galena, the river had failen three feet; but it had rained heavily in the past week.
